Monthly Market Commentary

During May RSM sent proposals to the AGMs of 11 NAVF companies. These consisted principally in our requesting the allotment of amounts of Restricted Stock to senior managers and other employees in line with Japanese government Corporate Guidance recommendations and that each company undertake a 10% buyback of its listed shares in the next financial year.

As expected, all companies rejected these proposals but three introduced shareholder-friendly measures sufficient to allow us to withdraw our proposals before the AGMs took place. We did this for Teikoku Electric, Ihara Science and Mitsubishi Belting. Following Mitsubishi Belting's announcement that it would move to 100% dividend payouts for at least the next two years and the intention to target an 8% ROE, the company's shares have rallied over 40%.

Important notice

Nippon Active Value Fund (“NAV”) is an investment trust, listed on the London Stock Exchange in the United Kingdom, and advised by Rising Sun Management Limited. The value of its shares, and any income from them, can fall as well as rise and investors may not get back the amount invested.

The specific risks associated with the NAVF include:

NAVF invests in overseas securities. Changes in the rates of exchange may also cause the value of your investment (and any income it may pay) to go down or up.

NAVF can borrow money to make further investments (sometimes known as “gearing” or “leverage”). The risk is that when this money is repaid by NAVF, the value of the investments may not be enough to cover the borrowing and interest costs, and NAVF will make a loss. If NAVF’s investments fall in value, any invested borrowings will increase the amount of this loss.

NAVF can buy back its own shares. The risks from borrowing, referred to above, are increased when a trust buys back its own shares.

Market values for securities which have become difficult to trade may not be readily available and there can be no assurance that any value assigned to such securities will accurately reflect the price NAVF might receive upon their sale.

NAVF can make use of derivatives which may impact on its performance.

Investment in smaller companies is generally considered higher risk as changes in their share prices may be greater and the shares may be harder to sell. Smaller companies may do less well in periods of unfavourable economic conditions.

NAVF’s exposure to a single market and currency may increase risk.

The aim of NAVF is to achieve capital growth. It does not target a specific yield and might not pay a dividend every year.

NAVF is listed on the London Stock Exchange and is not authorised or regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority.
